Action Symposium Planned On Non-Diligent Student

The Seaside High School Black Student Union has announced plans for an all-day symposium dealing with the problem of non-diligent and uninvolved students.

BSU advisor Ben Turner said the symposium, set for Saturday, March 31, in the high school's Burnett Cafeteria, will invilve students and faculty members from all four Peninsula high schools, along with interested community members.

The meeting, aimed at developing alternatives and an action plan for use in high schools, is an outgrowth of a "mock" demonstration held by the BSU last February 13, during Black History Week. On that day, the BSU presented Dr. James Solberg, Seaside High principal,, with a list of grievances and demanded action to bring about greater efforts to get non-diligent black students to achieve in the classroom.

Dr. Solberg said he welcomed the BSU's concern, commenting at the same time that he felt a greater problem existed with white non-diligent students. Turner said the March 31 symposium will deal with the problem of all non-diligent students, regardless of their color.

"All schools have the same problems," he said. "We can't work to eliminate just black problems and overlook others. We're not racists."

Since the February 13 demonstration, meetings have been held with district administrators and every teacher at Seaside High School devoted a period on "Discussion Day" to talk about issues raised by the BSU. In addition, Turner said BSU members spent part of one day at Carmel High School, talking with students there about their concerns. As a result of the Carmel visit, Carmel High School will be sending two bus loads of students and teachers to the symposium, he said. Similar visits are planned at Monterey High School and at Pacific Grove High School.

"We want to pull the best minds and the most concerned people together," Turner said, with the idea of working out alternatives and an action plan that can be adapted for use at any school.

Registration will be held Saturday from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. Following a welcome, the symposium will be started by keynote speaker Dr. Marie Fielder, alecturer in higher education at the University of California at Berkeley. From 10:30 a.m. until noon, participants will take part in seminars dealing with different aspects of the problem. Lunch will be provided by the high school's Parent Teacher Student Association from noon to 1:30 p.m. An afternoon keynote speaker, still to be named, will address the symposium, after which, from 2:15 to 4:30 p.m., another round of seminars will be held. At 4:30, the entire group will meet to discuss solutions proposed in each seminar meeting. Turner said the group's efforts will then be drawn into a useable plan, with the help of Dr. Fielder at the Berkeley campus.

Seminar topics will include discussions on keeping loiterers and students from other schools off campuses, making lavatories "safe and liveable," making certain that students attend their classes, dealing with the question of student smoking on campus, detailing the responsibilities of administrators, counselors and teachers in "cultivating the art of decision-making by students in relation to the need for studying more difficult courses," and determining if school district policy "allows a climate to exist which permits non-diligence."

There will be a $1.20 per person charge for participating in the symposium, but that price will include the cost of lunch and materials used during the day.

Students are being asked to pre-register for the symposium by March 26. Interested members of the community are encouraged to pre-register by that date, but can register on the day of the symposium, Turner said. Registration forms and other information may be obtained by contacting Turner or dropping by the Seaside High School office.

Crime Abatement Program Explained

Seaside has been chosen from among a list of 22 California cities as the first "study and action" site for a state financed crime abatement project. An experimental and demonstration contract funded through the California Council on Criminal Justice and sponsored by the California Youth Authority began November 9, 1972.

The major short range objectives of the project are to:

1. Study the present "models of involvement" now operative in communities and neighborhoods in Seaside and assist in strengthening them.

2. Increase the number of minority persons working on preventive crime abatement programs and provide quality information to those persons.

The long range goals are two-fold:

1. To support local community efforts to establish broadly supported positive programs of diversion for youth and young adults.

2. To effect a reduction in the projected crime rate after program implementation of from 1 to 5 percent.

The City Council was informed of Seaside's selection as the first study-action site and were requested to appoint a member to a Program Policy Group that will establish the procedure for setting a local advisory committee.

A local advisory committee will establish the priorities for action programs and will review and comment on all study materials developed through this project.

Fred Reading, the project manager announced an office is to be located in Seaside by April 1st.

The work program of the Community Crime Abatement Program for the next months will be:

1. Orient Seaside Policy Group appointee to the study and project.

2. Develop procedures for selecting a local advisory committee.

3. Convene local advisory committee, orient to project and establish priority procedure.

4. Establish the communities priorities.

5. Implement technical assistance to local agencies to mount and implement programs.

6. Evaluate and monitor the program.

7. Complete report and study.

8. Provide cooperative C.Y.A. follow-up staff resources to local programs.

Traffic Study Session Is Set For Tonight

The Seaside City Council would appreciate public input and participation in a special study session, on Wednesday, March 21, at 7:30 p.m. in Seaside City Hall Council Chambers.

A study is being made by Lampman and Associates, governmental consultants, on traffic patterns and problem areas on narrow streets in certain areas of Hannon, Noche Buena and Del Monte Heights Redevelopment area projects between Noche Buena Street east to Fort Ord Military Reservation, from Hilby Avenue north to La Salle Avenue, as well as Baker Street east to Noche Buena and Olympia Avenue north to La Salle Avenue. Th study is being financed by a special grant from the State of California Office of Traffic Safety. Specific comment and response are requested on matters of traffic control, parking practices in regard to restricted parking, and one-way street patterns.

Budget Is EOP Topic

The budget will be the main topic for discussion at the regular monthly meeting of the Monterey County Economic Opportunity Commission. Because of limited funding, Executive Director Richard Bennett stated "There will probably be no consideration of new programs. The budget to be presented for commission approval will include placing all the programs in the county system."

Wednesday night's meeting will be the first meeting at the New Outreach Center on Del Monte in Seaside. The City of Seaside and the county OEO each pay half of the rental on what was formerly the Seaside City Hall.

Following the regular meeting, there will be a closed personnel session.

Pre-School Programs Extended

The Monterey Peninsula Unified School District's three pre-school programs at Marina Del Mar, Noche Buena and Bay View schools will remain open at least through June 30, Superintendent Allan J. Petersdorf has announced.

The three centers had been scheduled to be closed down as of Friday, March 16 due to elimination by the federal government of the program under which the centers had been established.

Petersdorf explained that the centers will remain open because of the virtual certainty that the state will pick up the funding needed for operation through the end of this fiscal year. The state's legislature has approved a measure to provide stop-gap funding between April 1 and June 30. In addition, Gov. Ronald Reagan has announced his support of the interim funding, and was expected to sign the bill into law.

Petersdorf said although the programs will be continued through June 30, their operation after that date is still uncertain, and will depend on special federal or state funding.

Ninety pre-school age children are enrolled in the three local programs.

State Tax Help Is Available

Special assistance is being offered to residents who have not yet completed their State personal income tax return.

A representative of the Franchise Tax Board will open a temporary office in Monterey at City Hall, 550 Pacific Avenue on Thursday, April 5 and in Salinas at Board of Equalization, 21 West Laurel Drive on Wednesday, April 4, 1973, according to Executive Officer, Martin Huff. Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Assistance in the preparation of returns will be available; however, the representative cannot accept cash in payment of the liability. Taxpayers who intend to submit their payment at the temporary office should offer a check or obtain a money order.

Huff suggested that taxpayers who expect to file their returns at this office should bring the form which they received in the mail and which bears the gummed label prepared by the department. This will expedite processing and issuance of a refund if one is due.

State and Federal forms are now available at the temporary office but assistance may be obtained only at the time specified.

Candidates Are Needed

The Monterey Peninsula Cotillion League will be sponsoring the Second Annual "Miss Black Teen Monterey Peninsula" contest, in the near future, and at the present time are interviewing prospective contestants.

Any young lady between the age of 13 and 16 is eligible to compete. If you are interested, please contact: Mrs. Madlyn Thomas, president of the league, telephone number 394-3136.

I wish I could translate the hints about the dead young men and women, and the hints about old men and mothers, and the offspring taken soon out of their laps.

"What do you think has become of the young and old men? And what do you think has become of the women and children? They are alive and well somewhere, the smallest sprout shows there is really no death, and if ever there was it led forward life, and does not wait at the end to arrest it, and ceased the moment life appeared.

"All goes onward and outward, nothing collapses, and to die is different from what any one supposed, and luckier. Has any one supposed it lucky to be born? I hasten to inform him or her it is just as lucky to die, and I know it." - Walt Whitman.

In the past week two people who are close to me lost a loved one. Not just a loved one, but a dear relative. Ironically, both deaths occured the same day, and both were after prolonged illness. My father lost his sister last Friday and Mrs. Barragan lost her father.

We always try to keep in mind that everything happens for the best. The best for whom?

My father, being a Minister of the Gospel, always taught my brother and I never to question the works of the Lord. His favorite passage of the Bible is: "The Lord works in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform." Our heart bleeds for the dead, but our work is for the living.

Saturday morning Mayor Dolan called a meeting at his house to discuss the possibilities of forming Cub Scout Pakcs for the youngsters of

Today's Army NEWS By SSG R. Cardwell ARMY RECRUITER

Hello everybody.

Not every lineman works for Wichita county. And not all of them can hear their girl friends singing in the wires, Glen Campbell notwithstanding. But linemen do work for telephone companies and the Department of Labor reports that over 15,000 men and women made their living repairing and maintaining telephone lines around the country last year.

Developing "a knowledge of the basic principles of electricity and electronics" can be a somewhat difficult proposition but locating "telephone training and experience" in Today's Army is relatively easy. Any young man or woman who qualifies can enlist for the course offered by the US Army Southeastern Signal School at Fort Gordon in Georgia. The course provides aspiring linemen and women with a working knowledge of how to construct, maintain and recover open wire, aerial cable, field wire and field cable systems. They are also taught how to install telephones, unattended repeaters and field switchboards.

Once a lineman in TODAY'S ARMY completes his advance individual training he travels to the installation he selected prior to his enlistment. Linemen in TODAY'S Army also install and maintain field wire, open wire and cable communication systems. They make operating tests during installation to determine quality of transmission and circuit characteristics. Linemen also splice field wire and make field expedient splices in tactical cable. Also field telephone switchboards must be installed and operational adjustments performed on unattended tactical telephone repeater equipment.

And through all of the extensive training they receive, they will earn a beginning salary of $307.20 per month. In addition, they will receive FREE room and board, complete medical and dental care plus 30 paid vacation days annually. If they decide to enter the civilian market after their tour in TODAY'S ARMY, they do so with a great deal more professionalism and expertise than when they entered. And with a direct line on the future.

If you have any questions concerning TODAY'S ARMY, we may be contacted at 431-Webster St. Monterey, or call 372-4742/372-0553.

Trees Planted At Fort Ord

The 'Kick-Off' for Ft. Ord's continuing Legacy of Trees program took place March 9 in threatening weather. But it was a great 'Kick-Off' for when the planting got underway in earnest on Sunday afternoon.

On opening day, Dr. Allan J. Petersdorf, superintendent of the Monterey Peninsula Unified School Disrrict, and Major General H. G. Moore, Ft. Ord's commander, planted trees to the left of the 17th green on Ft. Ord's Blackhorse Golf Course.

Sunday March 11, was a different day. The sun was shining. Young boy scouts, girl scouts, basic trainees at Ft. Ord, weathered retirees and volunteers from the Women's Golf Association, all the Training Brigades and Combat Developments Experimentation Command (CDEC) planted trees at marked locations throughout the Blackhorse Golf layout.

For three hours, children and old folk, soldiers and civilians, joined in the spirit of starting life all over again. Just what they did when the planted young trees which should grow into windbreaks, golf hazards and just plain beautiful things that inspired Joyce Kilmer to write, "I think that I shall never see a poem lovely as a tree."

The next phase in the Legacy of Trees program will find plantings taking place on the office building areas of the post.

Psychology Film Series Continuing

The psychology film series at Monterey Peninsula College will screen an interview of Carl Gustav Jung, a leading psychologist, in LF-103 Thursday, March 22, from 8 to 10 p.m.

During the half-hour film, Jung explains his concepts of personality and discusses how they differ from others. A discussion of Jung's viewpoints led by Gerd Cryns, a Jungian analyst from Carmel, will follow the film.

The program is the third of five filmed discussions with psychologists. The final films, interviews of Ernest Hilgard and Abraham Maslow, will be shown on March 29 and Arpil 5 respectively.

Gets Federal Grant

The County of Monterey will receive a federal grant of $35,000, according to A.T. Bailey, director of the San Francisco Regional Office of the U.S. Civil Service Commission.

The county's grant is one of forty projects funded in California during the current fiscal year under the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970.

The Counties of Monterey, San Benito, Santa Cruz and the seventeen cities in the counties will work together in the development of an employee training program. Training courses will be developed to meet the high priority needs of the governments to upgrade the skills of employees to cope with the complex problems of modern government.

The Intergovernmental Personnel Act funded twenty-six projects in California during the previous fiscal year at a cost of over $1,100,000. These projects are already demonstrating significant improvements in services to the public and resultant savings in tax dollars. The Act also provides for the temporary interchange of employees between governments and with institutions of higher education. Forty-five such exchanges have taken place in California, twenty-six involving federal employees working for state and local governmental agencies.

WHAT ABOUT MEDICAL SERVICE NOW?

While asking the County and City officials to come up with an interim Action plan or program, I took a look at what our community has been doing to deliver Medical Services.

For many years MEDICAL SERVICE to the people of Seaside has been a major concern to me. A good delivery system, including a vacility, doctors, nurses, and other supportive personnel and equipment is what I have spent many hours working for. Others, both public and private, have worked for this.

It appears that we can see some light at the end of the tunnel. We have public officials, both in our City and at the County level, who are willing to take a serious look at this, and act accordingly.

LONG RANGE PLANS have been set in motion, and I, for one, shall be "leaning" on all concerned until the plans are effectively in operation.

HARAMBE MEDICAL CLINIC:

After going through the Clinic again, and talking with the Executive Director, Mr. Lenzy Donaldson, and members of his staff, these are the impressions that I came away with:

About two years ago, a group of young students came together with the expressed intention of doing something to better the community in which they live. Out of this meeting came one of the finer things this City has seen, and something that all of us could be proud of, especially those people who have been without medical treatment for one reason or another. To them, Harambe is an answer to their silent prayers.

The Harambe Medical Clinic has been with us now for two years, and in that two-year period, they have seen and treated thousands of people, for various medical reasons. In case you haven't had a chance to visit the Clinic, I would like to inform you of some of the many services that are provided by Harambe to our people who would otherwise go without medical care.

Medical Services: This is one of the Clinic's primary responsibilities; the delivery of quality medical care. This is done in a number of different ways:

1. By medical referrals, or
2. By the Clinic's in-house doctor

You may call and make an appointment or simply stop at the Clinic between the hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Inform Gwen, the friendly young receptionist, of your problem, and before you can say "doctor" the machinery is in motion for you to either see the in-house doctor or be referred to one of the many volunteer doctors the Clinic has on its staff. All depends upon the nature of the illness and its seriousness. Now you might ask who determines the nature of the illness; Mrs. M. Edwards, the Clinic's nurse, is on duty daily. She handles minor problems on the spot. Now you have another problem. How do you get to the doctor's office, if you must go. You are a senior citizen and you have no desire to drive, or maybe you just don't have a car. That is no problem for the Clinic and its staff.

Transportation to and from the doctor's office is provided by the Clinic, at no cost to the client. Cars are on stand-by for the expressed purpose of getting you, the people, to and from the places you have to be on time. To tell you all of the Clinic's merits would be to use all of this newspaper space, so I will try and shorten it up to just the important parts.

Prescription cost: This is another service extended by the Clinic. Medicines are one of the most important and most expensive part of a doctor's care. Those of you who have had to have a prescription filled will bear witness to what I have said. The great cost is not the issue at Harambe Medical Clinic. Your prescription is filled at a reduced cost to you, the paying public. If by chance you don't have the money to pay for your medication, that's fine too. You can get it now and pay later if you can afford it. If not (as the saying goes) no sweat.

According to Lenzy, the Clinic's director, Health Care is a right, not a privilege, and money should not stand in the way of good health care.

Seaside, it is said, contains more drugs and drug users than any other city in the county. This is another chapter of the Harambe story. They have been fighting the drug dependency problem for two years. This is their philosophy: If a person wants to kick (get off drugs) and they are sure this is what they would like to do, we ask that you give us a call or come in and see Anna, who is the drug specialist at the Clinic. We guarantee you the results you expect.

There is a last remark I want to make while closing, for people here on the Peninsula who need such help. There is a 24-hour number you may call for help of any sort - that number is 394-7721. If we can't help you, we will get you to someone who can, for: V.D., pregnancy, legal aide, bail bonds, and even a midnight snack. Your problems are our problem. LETS PULL TOGETHER.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is clear, from the statements concerning the activities of Harambe, that many of the services that are now being provided to poor people would not be provided under a normal County operated service. It is also clear that Harambe Clinic cannot serve all the people of Seaside, without a delivery system that is equal to the task. This means more doctors, nurses and all the supportive services necessary to do the assigned job.

I am, therefore, recommending that the County consider entering into a contract with Harambe to deliver the interim medical services that Seaside needs, pending a permanent operating facility in this area.

ACCOUNTABILITY AND RESPONSIBILITY is an important part of this. I would recommend, therefore, that the City of Seaside or the County serve as "Fiscal Agent" for this project.

Superintendents, Legislators Featured In Television Talk

The Peninsula's three school superintendents will meet with state legislative representatives on a 60-minute television program entitle, "Legislation and the Schools: Where Do We Go From Here?" Thursday, March 22 at 7 p.m. on MPTV, Channel 13.

The program is second in a series of monthly broadcasts prepared jointly by the Monterey County Office of Education, the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District and the Carmel Unified School District.

State Senators Donald Grunsky, R-Santa Cruz, and Assemblyman Robert Wood, R-Greenfield, will appear on the live broadcast, and will discuss legislation regarding different aspects of public education. On the panel with them will be superintendents Allan J. Petersdorf of the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District, Dr. Troy Bramlett, of the Pacific Grove Unified School District and Dr. Harris Taylor of the Carmel Unified School District.

Names 'Who's Who's'

Monterey Peninsula College selected 34 of its 3,864 day students to be included in "Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges."

A nominating committee of administrators, faculty and students at MPC considered academic standing, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential as the requirements for selection. The students selected had to be second year college students and decidedly above average in the requirements.

The MPC students honored are: Edward Apodaca, Ricardo Barboza, Ilene Cashmen, Roman Clar, Thomas Culala, Ezra Dickinson, Scott Fisher, Linda Gaines, Billy George, Deirde Henry, Alexander Hulanicki, Andrew Isadore, Lawrence Jung, George Kapuscinski, Jack Lewtschuk, Rachel Lucero, Kathy Lukas, Thomas McCleister, Michael McDaniel, Harold McQuinn, Glenn Morris, Donald Mothershead, Jack Paquin, Dale Pellegrino, Harrison Pierce, William Rodrigues, Thaddeus Sigourney, Ada Smith, Franklin Shields, Erlinda Threet, Mark Thompson, Robert Toole, Jonathan Wren and Douglas Krechnyak.

What do Marjorie Littletree and Kathy Phillips have in common?

A Share In Nearly A Billion Dollars.

And, they both like to dance. Marjorie portrays the legends of her people, the Tlingit Indians of Alaska, through the traditional tribal dances taught to her by her parents. She is a full-blooded Tlingit Indian, which entitles her to a share in the land claims settlement recently enacted by the Federal Government.

Across the United States in Tennessee, Kathy grooves to the sound of her favorite rock group. Kathy's mother is also a Tlingit Indian, who left her Alaskan home to live in Tennessee with her soldier-husband during World War II. That means that Kathy, who is half-Tlingit, and her mother are both eligible for a share in the claims settlement.

If you, or anyone you know, are at least one-quarter Alaskan Eskimo, Indian, or Aleut, you may be eligible to share in nearly one billion dollars, too. The cutoff date for registration is March 30, 1973, so contact the Alaskan Native Enrollment Office now. Write ALASKA NATIVE ENROLLMENT, Pouch 7-1971(A), Anchorage, Alaska, 99510.

Seaside. Several Scout Leaders were present, and some school officials. Literature was passed around showing the interesting activities involved for the kids. A program is being formed to interest the parents in Scout activities. It is necessary to install in the parents the many advantages which can be to their children's benefit. Including the learning of a trade which they may pursue the rest of their lives.

The best part is already off the ground: Seaside Parks and Recreation Department has acquired the use of some land in Carmel Valley. This was formerly CCC camp. Now the city may rent this land for something like $1 per year for the next 99 years. After a little fixing up, part of which Ft. Ord will assist, this camp can accomadate 50 youngsters per week for 8 weeks.

What is needed now is for the parents to make their children available for this project. The accomodations include swimming, hiking, and many other outdoor activities. Someone has gone to a little effort to put this program together, let us not let them down.

Mr. Sam Brown made one phone call during the meeting at the mayor's house and he was able to obtain a sponsor for 700 kids who want to become involved in this Boy Scout venture. Mr. Brown says this is the third time in two years he has tried to start a pack in Seaside. Parents - don't let Mr. Brown fail on this one.

Also Saturday the Parks and Recreation Department along with the Seaside Police Department, sponsored a bike rodeo in the parking lot of the City Hall. There were many, many youngsters present, and they had a wonderful time. Plenty of hot dogs, hamburgers, and coke was served free to everyone.

Not many parents attended the rodeo, therefore they missed the joy of seeing their children participate in this wonderful event. If the parents showed more interest in the children's activities, I am certain the kids would participate more freely. They love to show the parent what they can do. Let us all get behind the future leaders of this nation.

There are over 1700 pre-teen and teenage youths living just in Seaside. And more new families montly. Let us all concentrate on how to keep these youngsters occupied and enjoying themselves at the same time. It is up to the adults.

I received a few phone calls within the past couple of weeks inquiring about Mr. Barragan. Seems as if it has been noticed that I have not been saying much about him lately. Well, what can I say? Andy is coming along just fine. The only change is that he is steadily improving. He continues to follow the doctor's orders (as best he can), and he walks his miles daily. For the rest of my life I will always believe in miracles.

How many of you are supporting the Harambe Medical Clinic? I don't mean be donating time and money towards their effort, although it is needed badly, I am talking about attending the Del Rey Theater (Del Rey Cultural Center). Have you been keeping up with the activities lately? Their movies are top-ranking, (Super Fly starting Wednesday), but last Sunday there was a Gospel program that no one should have missed. Time will not permit me to elaborate on that. But they also have rock concerts most weekends. Their movies are only $1 for adults and 50¢ for kids under 13. Anyway, all proceeds made at the Cultrual Center goes towards helping the Harambe Clinic help you. They are there to try to fulfill your needs. Let's support them.

The clock on the wall just said: "See you later." So I will.

Meeting Is Today

The regular meeting of the Monterey County Welfare Commission will be held on Wednesday, March 21, at 1:30 p.m. in Salinas at the Health Department Auditorium, 1270 Natividad Road, Salinas.

Chamber of Commerce Progress Report

by Verlaine Crawford, Executive Director

Be sure to come to the next meeting of the Chamber. It will be a General Membership Meeting held at City Hall on Thursday, April 5, at 8 a.m. We will hold our regular Board of Directors Meeting, and it will be followed by a presentation by the Honorable Eugene Harrah, Presiding Judge of Monterey/Carmel Judicial District. He will speak about Small Claims Court. There will be a question and answer period following. Everyone is invited. You need not be a member to attend.

My trip to Sacramento as representative of the Seaside Chamber at the State Chamber of Commerce Legislative Forum, held March 13-14, was very interesting and informative. The Governor's Tax Program, which deals with the $850 million budget surplus, was discussed. Gov. Reagan explained that he plans to use the surplus by postponing the one cent sales tax increase until January, plus a 20 percent reduction on income tax. The $65 million that will be left could be used to buy some of the coastal land available for parks and recreation.

The Governor's Cabinet Members explained their functions and their goals for the coming year. Dr. Earl Brian, Secretary, Health and Welfare Agency, said he hopes to separate the Juvenile System from the Criminal Courts. He would like to reduce the number of prisoners in state prisons and start doing more rehabilitation at a local level.

Dr. Brian said that the state job creation programs will be increasing the amount of money available as loans for businesses from $500,000 to $5 million.

Frank Walton, Secretary, Business and Transportation Agency, mentioned that he hopes all Chambers of Commerce will get behind the Governor's Tax Reform Program. At the present time, 43 cents out of every dollar is taken from your personal income and goes to taxes. Government spending seems to be out of control. (This includes sales tax, gasoline tax, and all other taxes). out of that 43 cents, 8.75 cents goes to the State of California. What the Governor has proposed is that we amend the California State Constitution. The amendment would say that the government can not levy taxes for more than 8.75 percent of your dollar. He would then propose that we reduce the percentage by one percent per year until the amount is down to 7.1 percent or seven cents out of every dollar.

The only way the legislature could ask for an increase in that percentage (a raise in taxes) would be to put their request as a vote before the people of the state...this would be in the case of a special emerancy when more funds might be needed.

Some politicians in Sacramento have said that the Governor's program would put them in a "straight-jacket" if they couldn't pass laws to raise taxes, but Gov. Reagan said that in actuality the amount of money coming into the state treasury will continue to increase under his program. By 1983, the budget will double and the state will take in $18.6 billion. In 15 years, by 1988, it will triple and the budget will be $27 billion without any increase in taxes.

The California Chamber of Commerce is deeply involved in issues of importance to California business, industry and agriculture...areas of concern are consumer affairs, economic development, the energy crisis, education, insurance, human relations, natural and water resources, urban planning and land use, public affairs, taxation, tourism, transportation and world trade. Each major issue is studied and developed by a staff person at the state level.

On a local level, here in Seaside, the development of an effective program, which involves all our own major issues, needs to be developed and worked on diligently. The Chamber is a volunteer organization and we need the support of the business and professional community, plus the residents of Seaside. Ideas, input, problems and solutions, time and money, these are the needs of the Chamber. The Chamber is the business community at work in Seaside, so why not get involved. There's lots to do now and in the future. For information, call 394-6501.

HEALTH CARE

During the past two weeks, numerous poor people from all over the Monterey Peninsula have informed us that they too agree that the Peninsula as a whole has been ignored insofar as Medical facilities are concerned.

Health care isn't only a Seaside issue, it is a Monterey Peninsula issue!

A paltry $100,000 is a drop in the bucket compared to the millions which are spent annually to provide health care to the thousands of Salinas Valley residents who have access to the County hospital.

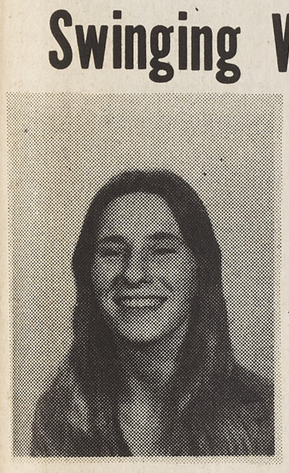
This insignificant sum will only serve to prove that more concentrated health facilities are required to adequately serve the people As it was deemed necessary to augment the County Courthouse with a Peninsula annex, so it should be perfectly clear that a full-fledged county hospital annex should be located somewhere on the Monterey Peninsula.

The majority of county taxes originate here, and some of those taxes should return in the form of services to those who presently support the Salinas facility.

With an expected 30 million dollars of revenue sharing funds anticipated for Monterey County over the next five years,.a couple of million of these should be spent on the health facility for the Peninsula. Tokenism of $100,000 just won't do the job.

I hope that the Board of Supervisors will see the urgency of this need and take appropriate action. Congratulations to Supervisor Poyner for taking the first step.

Swinging With Vicky



It looks as though the Del Rey Cultural Center did it again this last Saturday evening, presenting our own SOUNDS OF PERSUASION and BLACK JACK. The Theatre was comfortably packed. BLACKJACK threw out boo-coo soul, as did the SOUNDS OF PERSUASION. S OF P seem to get more polished every time they play. Hopefully soon they will be cutting an L.P.

Sunday afternoon The Del Rey presented a Gospel Show sponsored by the New Hope Baptist Church on Sonoma Street, here in Seaside. I, unfortunately, was unable to attend, but found that the show went over very well. They had some very fine groups there. There was an attendance of 200 people Sunday. Everyone can use some good religion every now and then.

Starting this Wednesday, the 14th, The Cultural Center will present SUPERFLY and OMEGA MAN. For those of you who missed SUPERFLY, here's your chance to catch it. OMEGA MAN stars Charlton Heston. It sounds pretty hip.

On the 30th of this month a concert is planned for the Del Rey. They will be presenting in concert COLD BLOOD along with BLACK-JACK. Need I say more? Details will be coming forthwith. Stay in tune with our own KZEN Radio Station also, for these and other coming events.

For those of you who are into or would like to get into acting, Bertha Hutchins is still taking names of those interested in getting into something hip. You can call her at 375-9821, ext. 388. Watch out though, you might find yourself into a heavy. Later on.....

Evolution Workshop

The evolution of man from a human-like ape will be examined in a workshop beginning Tuesday, March 27, at Monterey Peninsula College in B-6 from 7 to 9 p.m.

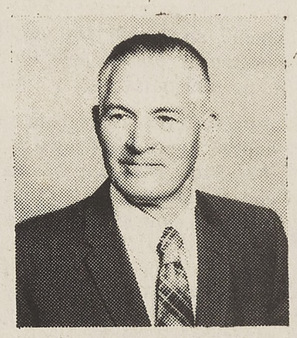
Ann Merville will base the informal course on recent anthropological discoveries. The presentations, on six consecutive Tuesdays, will include films, lectures and the instructor's fossil cast collection.

Mrs. Verville has a master's degree in physical anthropology and has made skeletal and dental calibrations on both human and non-human primate material.

A fee of $6 will be charged for registration, which should be completed before the first class meeting. For registration and information, call Community Services at 275-9821, ext. 335.

As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE



I broke the law. I admit it, and therefore I must be a criminal by dictionary definition even though I have not been duly convicted. But I thought I had a right to break it, because it was such a beautiful day and the wild blue ocean was sending geysers of spray upward from the rocks at Brownwater Cove, sometimes called Point Pinos, where sewage from Pacific Grove pours partly clarified into my favorite ocean.

The sign on the beach said, "No trespassing, City of Pacific Grove, Beach or Water Contact Sports Prohibited." For two or three years that sign has been there to proclaim loudly to tourists that our ocean is polluted. For a time a long cable extended from the sign to another post to make sure nobody accidentally touched either the beach sand or the ocean beyond that point.

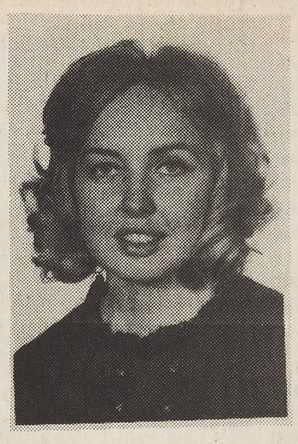
But I was curious about the large numbers of cormorants I saw lying dead on the beach. Did the sewage have anything to do with their untimely deaths, or had they ruptured their stomachs with the shrimp that had surfaced and washed ashore? So, I went past the sign, looking back occasionally to see if anyone had called the police, and I went out on the rocks to the point, where in one spot not over eight feet in diameter I counted ten birds dead and one dying.

About half way out I paused to admire the sewage outlet, where the brown water from Pacific Grove gushes out to blend majestically with the clear blue breakers of Balboa's Pacific. The result is not quite blue. It is a dirty light brown mixture that smells very much like the old time country outhouses, not the plain ones, but the ones where the owners could afford to partly kill the odor with a chloride of some sort.

I don't think the sewage had anything to do with the deaths of the birds, because the sewage blend flows southward toward Pebble Beach, and hundreds of dead birds clutter the beaches in the other direction. Of course there are other sewage outlets to the north. One hot summer day last year or the year before I put on my swim trunks and ran out for a swim at the main beach by the wharf in Monterey, and I was disappointed to learn that the reason I couldn't see well under water was because of bits of finely shredded paper, which probably did not come from Christmas wrappings.

So, maybe it was the sewage, or maybe a disease, or maybe nervous indigestion that killed the birds. I know it was the shredded paper that ruined my swim, and if I am not mistaken it does not really have to be that way, either at Monterey beach or at Brownwater Cove in Pacific Grove. Sometimes I think it would have been nice if the ocean had been higher than the land, instead of lower, so it would not have been the logical place for us to dump our sewage.

The SPARD



The following activities highlighted this week by the Seaside Park and Recreation Department are as follows:

YOUTH CENTER - Saturday at 11 a.m. the table tennis tournaments begin for all interested youth. Also, at 2 p.m. a co--ed volleyball game is scheduled. Letters to the Editor

Editor: No nation nor any power could destry AMERICA, but SEGREGATION and DISCRIMINATION could destroy us all.

The problem of racial balance and integration is particularly frustrating because vast sums of money has been poured out from the Federal Government, principally through the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Health, Education and Welfare, Environmental Protection, securing the future of more segregated suburbs and making it impossible the vision of free balanced and mobile American Society.

We could not build low-income housing in Carmel and Monterey. So, it is a plan to utilize and to preserve the pattern of economkc and racial segregation rather than encourage the growth of more heterogeneous communities. Very few of us recognize that zoning is the most blatant expressions of institutionalized racism in our country today. It is a tool utilized by home builders and real estate people in their studies on land use and conservation, projected on community growth to fulfill their prophicies to create white middle class suburbs in perpetuity. These kind of Americanism will destroy us all.

We are wasting our efforts and time mkaing plans for racial balance and integration since we don't get support from President Nixon. Racial balance is still elusive and is way of life.

The President's call for nationwide busing moratorium is misleading and very disappointing. It is really depressing because in communities where the movement has began toward disintegration, now they are reluctant to continue disintegration.

How could we achieve disintegration and live in a pluralistic society?

By stopping the perpetuity of building middle class white suburbs community. By stopping the de fecto segregation practice of the Home-builders and Real estate people. Instead, we should encourage the growth of more heterogeneous communities and the growth of free balanced and mobile American Society.

Let us open the windows of Freedom to all segments of our citizenry. Whioe they are open, let us threw everything out to help improve the quality of our school systems.Let us shape a new vision of America. The dollar is worthless unless it generates good and equal school for all.

Let Freedom ring to all segments of our society. Once they understand your sincere and well meaning of prupose and intention as a true guardian of Freedom and Democracy. Surely the minority groups - the Blacks, the Spanish surnames, the Asian Citizens - and the white people will cooperate even in partnership to promote integration and quality education.

Let no one speak the language of freedom and racial balance while in his heart holds segregation and discrimination. No nation or power could destroy America but segregation and discrimination will destroy us all.

Red Cross Celebrates Golden Jubilee In 1973

The American Red Cross is celebrating a Diamond Jubilee in California this year!

Many millions of Americans have received help from the Red Cross over these 75 years. Much of this help was made possible by the response of other Americans to calls for financial support published in the nation's newspaper. By their dissemination of safety information provided by the Red Cross and of appeals for blood donations, newspaper, have earned much of the credit for the saving of lives. We are again asking your help in our forthcoming Fund Drive starting on the Peninsula, March 1.

Since the organization of Red Cross in California in 1898, when members first met to supply the needs of California soldiers heading for the Philippines during the Spanish-American War, until the present, the Red Cross, motivated by charity, has worked to bring humanitarian relief and aid to those in need.

In 75 years demands made upon the American Red Cross have never been greater than now. Many people take Red Cross for granted because they are "always there." From that "soldier boy" of 1898 to the returning veteran of 1973, or as long as there are disaster victims, lives to be saved with first aid skills, and young people who need a constructive way to get involved, Red Cross services and emergency assistance will be available 24 hours a day.

Seventy-five years ago the major goals of the State Association was the collection of Medical supplies and comfort items, medical care, and recreation for convalescent soldiers and the furnishing of "Identification Medals" for California volunteers which was the forerunner of the military's dog tags.

Today, the Red Cross has still continued supplying the military in the same manner, but in addition it has become the good neighbor to mankind without discrimination, regardless of race, color, creed, sex, birth, social standing or any other criterion, giving assistance in anyway that might prevent or diminish human suffering.

Candidates Nights Are Scheduled

City Plans To Run Camp In Carmel Valley

The Seaside City Council has decided that Seaside will take over the operation of a nine-acre camp in Carmel Valley.

At last Thursday Night's council meeting, they told the city Parks and Recreation Department to conclude an agreement with James and Richard Cahoon for operation of the camp which is about 18 miles east of the village. Previously the camp had been used as the Civilian Conservation Corps Camp.

Cleve Williams, Director of Parks and Recreation, said that the Cahoon's have agreed to lease the property to the city for 99 years at $1 a year, provided the city takes care of the maintenance of the area.

Williams also added that a Fort Ord engineering battalion has already agreed to rehabilitate the buildings, swimming pool, water and sewage systems.

The city will use the camp for an eight-week program which they have planned this summer. Fifty children a week, who need not be residents of Seaside or in the "disadvantaged" category, will be using the camp. Williams said they hope to keep the program self-sustaining. Fees will probably range from $20-$25 for Seaside children, while non-resident children will be charged slightly more.

Olympia Plaza Merchants Say Street Work Badly Hurts Business

Once again Seaside merchants are up in arms over the City's Fremont Boulevard reconstruction project.

As you recall, businessmen were very upset at Christmas time because of the project, which seriously affected their business.

Now that the paving of Fremont is almost completed and driveways are open, a new problem has arisen at Fremont's intersections with Clementina and Echo Avenues.

Right now the installation of red imitation Spanish tile there has caused the partial closing of these intersections and has eliminated among other things, the possibility of left turns by southbound Fremont traffic onto Echo.

This has caused Olympia Plaza Shopping Center, a $2 million facility located there, to be threatened with a serious loss of business, according to manager Bob Emery.

Emery noted that since the work has been able to be done without closing off Fremont, it should also be done with Echo Avenue remaining open.

According to city Public Works Director Ted Thoeny, the decorative concrete has the cure for three to four weeks and to close half of the intersection at a time would double the construction time.

Thoeny added that the city has put up sings for northbound traffic eo enter the Plaza by way of Phoenix Avenue and more signs will be added directing southbound traffic to turn off at San Pablo and go down Baker to Echo.

In response to the work going on, Mayfair Market manager Floyd Leonard said he feels the current traffic arrangement at the intersection is for the convenience of the contractor rather than the public.

Recruiting Drive On Peninsula

An intensive five-day drive to bring new applicants from the Salinas-Monterey area, particularly those with agricultural skills, into the Peace Corps and VISTA will be conducted on the Peninsula Monday through Friday, March 26 through 30.

A team of three recruiters from San Francisco will set up headquarters in Salinas and on the campuses of Hartnell College and Monterey Peninsula College. In Salinas, they will be based at the Monterey County Office of Economic Opportunity, 15 W. Gabilan St., from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

A special telephone line, 758-0963, will be installed at OEO to handle inquiries. No appointments are necessary for interviews.

Recuriters will visit Hartnell March 26, 27 and 28, and Monterey Peninsula on March 29 and 30.

The Salinas-Monterey campaign will place strong emphasis on agriculture and the skilled trades, according to team leader Michael Rosenberg.

"Today Peace Corps has over 7,000 Volunteers in 58 countries, working in more than 300 different skill areas," he said. "Over 30 percent of them are working in agricultural programs. This makes the Peace Corps the largest single employer of agriculturalists in the United States."

A Volunteers range from those who had two or more years' experience working on a farm to Ph.D.'s in plant pathology. Particularly needed now, Rosenberg siaid, are Peace Corps Volunteers in agronomu, horticulture, crop science, irrigation, livestock, ag economics and statistics, vegetable gradening extension, forestry and fisheries.

To become a Peace Corps farmer, he pointed out, it is not necessary to have an ag degree--just a good, practical background in farming or ranching. Ag Volunteers become advisers, extension personnel and teachers. They work in crops, livestock, horticulture, ag extension and conservation.

The local recruiting drive will also emphasize the skilled trades.

"We have openins overseas for construction workers, plumbers, sheetmetal workers and welders, gas and diesel mechanics and draftsmen," he said. "Peace Corps is also looking for architects, nurses, medical technicians, people with degrees in business administration, experienced primary and secondary teachers, civil engineers, and college graduates with liberal arts degrees of majors in mathematics, chemistry, physics, and economics of physical education."

On the VISTA side, Rosenberg listed opinings fo nurses, social welfare workers, secondary teachers and business administrators to work in poverty areas within the United States and its possessions.

Nationally, Peace Corps applications are up 25 percent for the first seven months of the current fiscal year over the comparable period last year, according to Rosenberg, and VISTA applications show a 54 percent increase.

The Peace Corps and VISTA and parts of ACTION, the agency established in July, 1971, to administer federal volunteer programs.

Fair Set For April 1

April Fool's day will be marked at Monterey Peninsula College by an April Fool's Fair, including a flea market, sponsored by the Associated Students. (ASMPC)

Combined with an arts and crafts event and an auction, the all-day benefit will be in the College Center from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday, April 1. All proceeds will go to salvaging the ASMPC budget which ran into difficulty this year.

Requests are being made for donations of resaleable items from businessmen and other members of the community for the flea market and auction. Any service, such as complimentary dinners, free hairstyling, free plane rides over the bay area or free boat rides will be accepted for auction. The auction will include special items like TV sets, furniture, or other large donations.

Artists and craftsmen can reserve a space to display their handicrafts for a slight fee. Those not associated with the college will be charged $3 plus 10 percent of their gross; students and faculty members, $1 plus the 10 percent; and ASMPC cardholders, only the 10 percent.

Last year's flea market netted $2,000; this year, $1,300 is needed to balance the budget.

No. G09736, in Reel 760, page 926, of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Monterey County, State of California, WILL SELL AT PUBLIC AUCTION TO HIGHEST BIDDER FOR CASH (payable at time of sale in lawful money of the United States) at the Church Street entrance of the Monterey County Courthouse, in the City of Salinas, California, all right, title and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust in the property situated in said County and State described as:

Lot 4 in Block 32 of Tract No. 193 in the City of Seaside, County of Monterey, State of California, as shown on the map filed November 14, 1950 in Volume 5 of maps of Cities and Towns, at page 59 in the office of the county recorder of said county.

The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 1973 Mendocino Street, Seaside, California.
The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein.
Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, with interest thereon, as provided in said note(s), advances, if any, under the terms of said Deed of Trust, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust.
The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located.

D S L SERVICE COMPANY
as said Trustee,

Forelle in Sahne-Soße

4 Forellen (man kann auch Schleie nehmen) vorsichtig ausnehmen, waschen trocknen, leicht salzen, innen mit gehackter Petersilie fullen. Kopf und Schwanz zusammenbinden. Dann aus ½ Liter Wasser, ½ Liter Weißwein, einem Schuß Essig etwas Salz einen Sud kochen, die Schleie bzw. Forellen in die Bratenpfanne der Backrohre geben und den heißen Sud darubergießen und 20 Min. ziehen lassen. Danach den Fisch auf das Gitter legen, mit nassem Pergamentpapier bedecken und etwa 25 Min. bei mittl. Hitze dunsten lassen. Inzwischen die Soße bereiten: 1 Brühwürfel in 1 Tasse Wasser auflosen, mit 1 gehauftea EBl Kartoffelmehl, ¼ Liter Weißwein und 2 Eigelb verquirlen und anschließend im Wasserbad so lange ruhren, bis die Soße zu dicken beginnt. Nun 2 EBl. Butter hineinruhren, das Ganze mit Zitronensaft, Salz, Pfeffer wurzen, vom Feuer nehmen und zum Schluß 125 g geschlagene Sahne darunterheben.

Guten Appetit

Happy Birthday Revue Scheduled By Magic Carpet Theatre Sunday

By Jim Mairs,
Director, Magic Carpet

A year ago this month, Hidden Valley's Theatre for Children, performed its first Magic Carpet show. No one, including the cast and the director, knew if the pantomime style of the Magic Carpet would work. We were a little scared as we started our first show in Kay Goines' kindergarten class at Carmel's River School. Watching the children's faces during the show, we realized that we had the beginning of a special theatre for children.

The Magic Carpet uses no props or costuems, or sets. We thought if we could get the children to imagine the sets, costumes, and most of all, the props, they would participate in the making of the play with us. We hoped if we could get the children to participate by using their imaginations, they would take home a new idea. The Magic Carpet wants its audiences to see that anyone can do a play and that props and costumes are not the essential ingredients. If we could get this idea across, we felt the children would be more willing to 'play' at home and at a later time be interested and excited about actively participating in the performing arts.

We feel what we are doing is extremely important because of the present void in the performing arts. Except for a few notable exceptions, television, films, adult theatre, and especially theatre for children, is a vast wasteland of mediocrity. We hope that we can have a small but positive influence on the future, with the help of the young actors directors, and financers, that we perform for in our regular shows and in our school touring program. After our first year, because of your support and the enthusiasm of your children, we are happy to say we're not scared anymore, but rather more committed to bringing you the best theatre we can. We are proud and grateful to be the Magic Carpet.

On Sunday, March 25, we will perform a Happy Birthday Revue, a review of our first year. Most all of your favorite stories will be touched upon. Our most requested and favorite story, "Angelo", the doll-maker, will conclude the show.

There will be two performances 2:30 and 4 p.m. at the White Oaks Theatre, Carmel Valley Rd. at Ford Road. Tickets are 75¢ for kids, $1.25 for adults and may be purchased at the door; however, reservations are suggested. For more information, please call 659-3115.
